Two steps.

A person says what changed. The next screen is the whole answer: what paused, who owns it, and the one thing to do.

CHANGE

1 Open

One question: What changed? Three samples sit under the box, so the demo starts with a tap.

2 Say it

Tap the CVE sample. Radius repeats it in one line: Faulty tool, pdf-parse 2.1.4, fix 2.1.6.

3 Check

Press Check this. Radius finds what it hits and pauses the high-risk workflows.

RESULT

4 Read

One sentence, on screen at once. Customer reply and Finance feed are paused. Contract review keeps running, with a warning.

5 Do the step

Each paused row names the owner and the next step. Press I'll do this. The path draws under that row.

6 Close

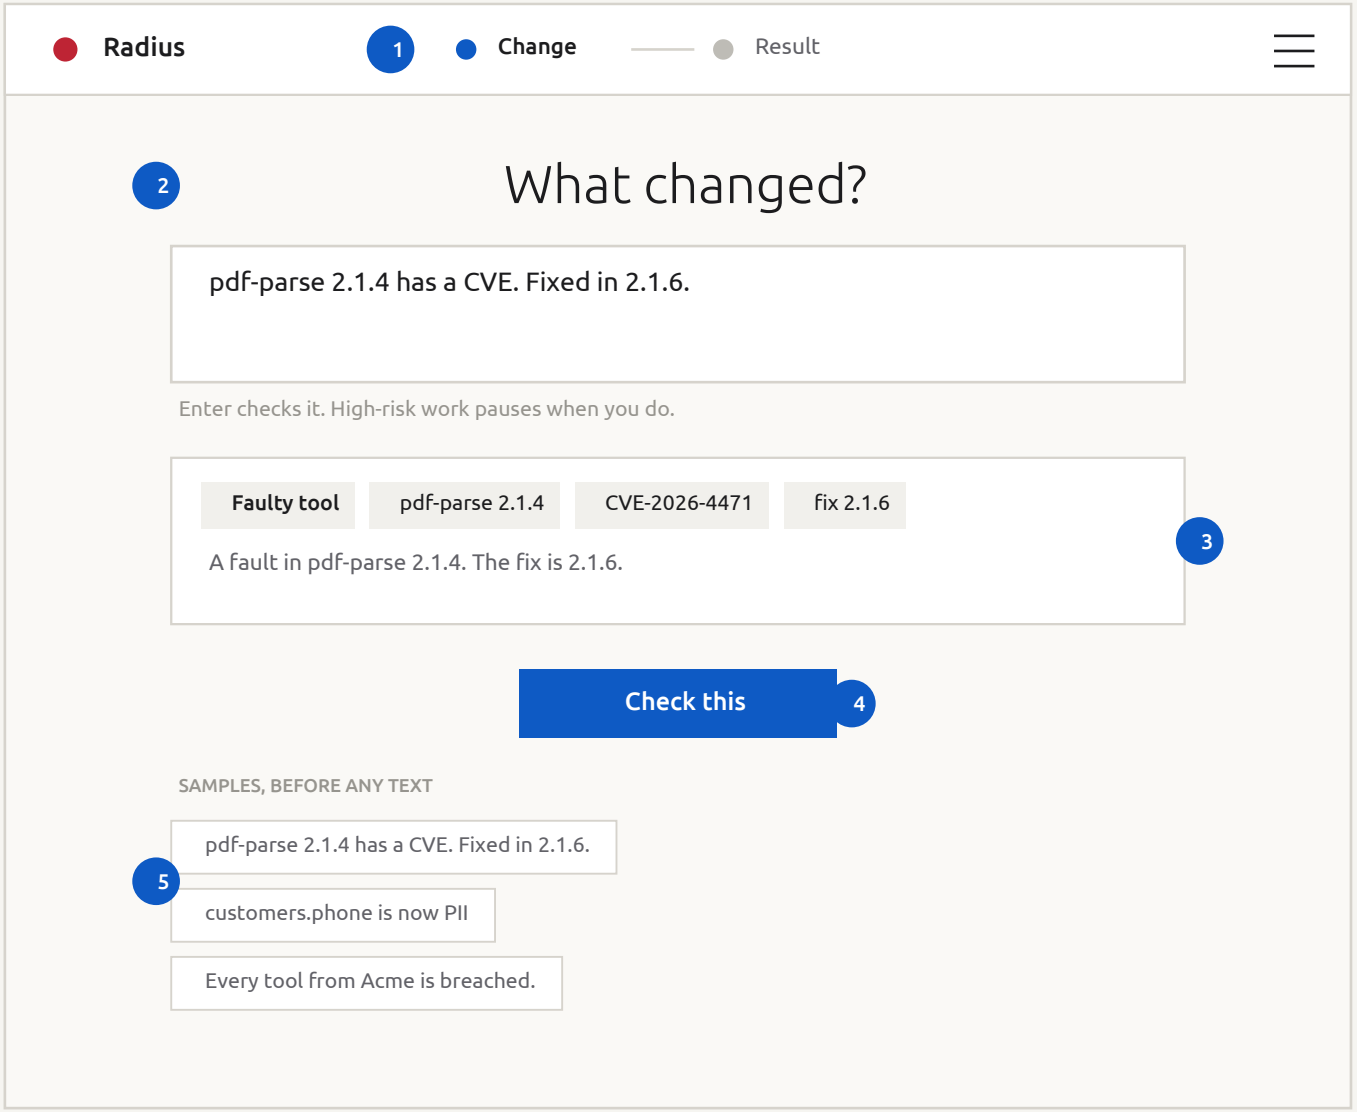

The fix landed sits once, at the bottom. Both steps clear. The warning row has no button.

Left off the path: the blast-radius graph, the workflow graph, the incident form, and the separate owner letter. The row covers all four.

NOT A STEP	Recent changes	Map	Try a rule	Record	stay in the menu. The owner letter is a link on the row.

What changed?

The only job of this screen is to hear the change and confirm it. One button. The samples are how the demo starts.

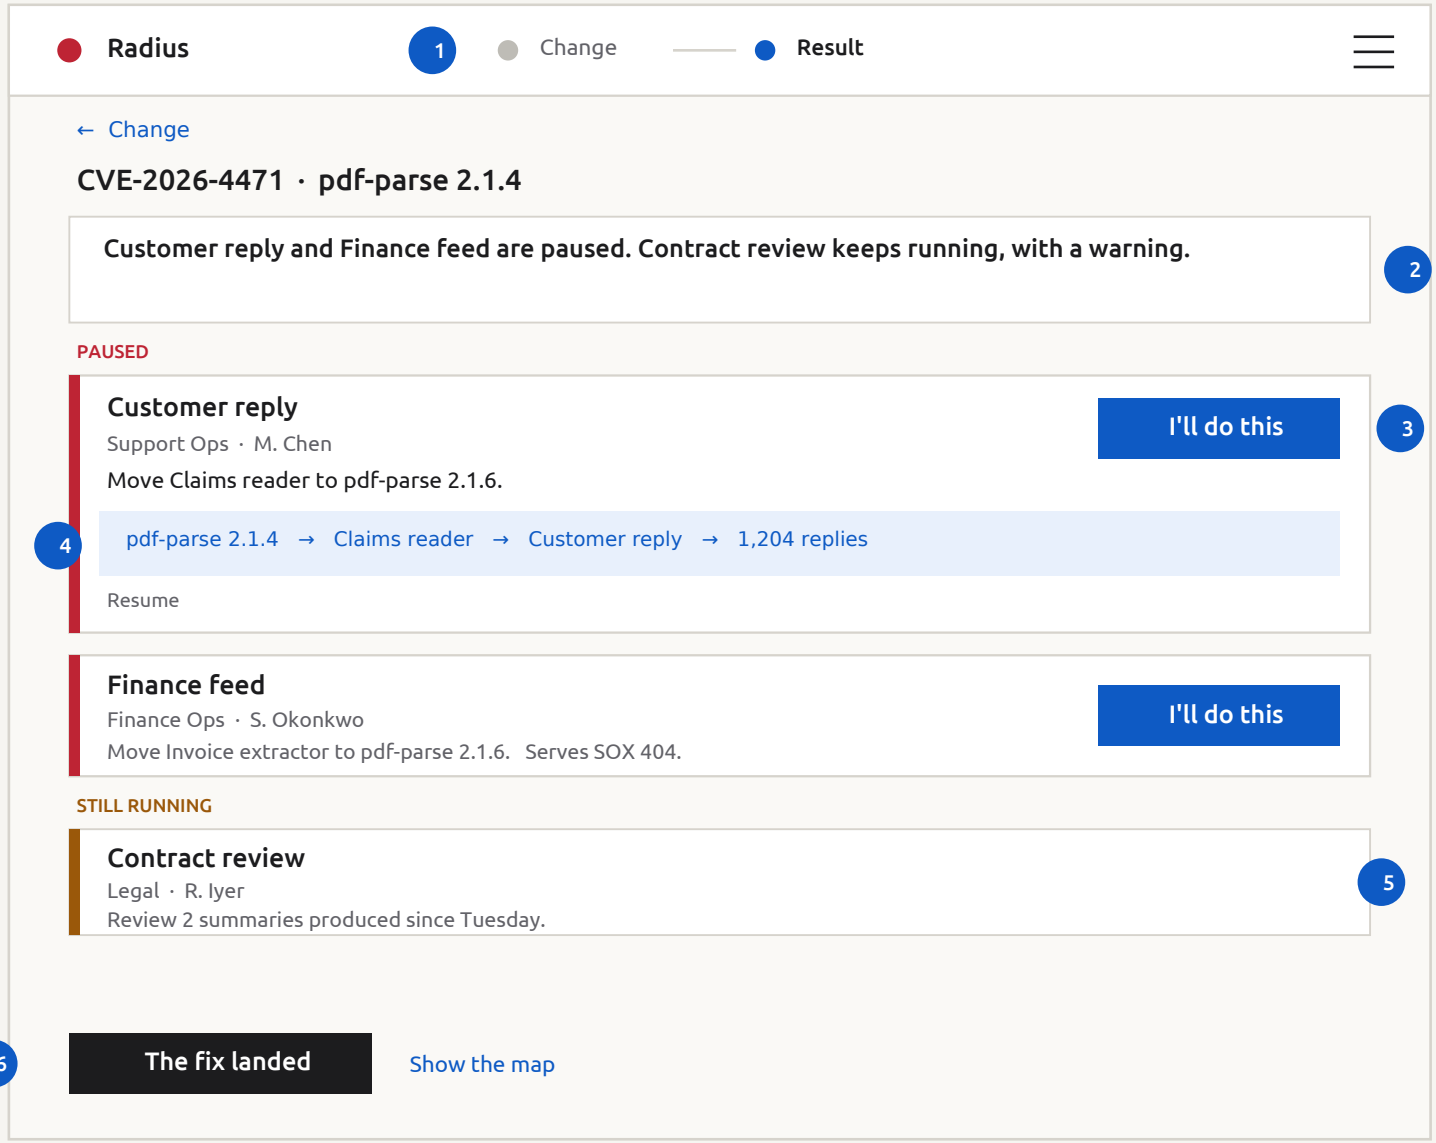

ON THIS SCREEN

1. Two steps stay in the header. Change is the one you are on. The menu is not how you move forward.
2. One question, one box. This is the whole screen.
3. Radius repeats what it heard, in one line, before you continue.
4. One button. It finds what the change hits and pauses high-risk workflows.
5. With an empty box, these samples replace the card. Tap one to fill it.

If Radius is unsure which thing you meant, you pick it here. Check this waits. If nothing matches, you keep the words for a person and stay on this screen.

The result.

Same header, next step. The list is the page. A paused row is the incident, the path, and the message to the owner.

ON THIS SCREEN

1. Same two steps. Result is current. Back goes to Change. The menu stays out of the way.
2. The sentence is the answer. It is on screen immediately. No graph plays first.
3. A paused row is the incident and the owner message. One button: I'll do this.
4. Select a row and the path is one line under it. There is no second page for this.
5. A warning keeps running. The row has the note, and no button.
6. The demo closer sits once. Show the map is optional, on this page.
